PINTLALA HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION ENDS TENTH YEAR

We end our first decade of historical activities and look forward to going into the 21st century. These years have been great!

Dr. Lee N. Allen, Editor of the Newsletter (book) published quarterly by the Alabama Historical Association has written asking for information on our association. The following brief summary of our goals, objectives, and activities is being sent to him. We were limited to 250 words. As I went back through our forty Newsletters for the ten years, I realized that it would take many more words to cover our fun times. However, a brief summary is appropriate.
of Incorporation and By-Laws of the Pintlala Historical Association were adopted.

The Articles of Incorporation of PHA state:

The purpose of this Association in brief:

1. To bring together those citizens of southwest Montgomery County, Alabama who are especially interested in our history.
2. To discover and collect materials which illustrate the history of the area.
3. To provide for the preservation of such materials and for its accessibility.
4. To disseminate historical information and to mark historical spots.
5. To cooperate with the Alabama Historical Commission and the Alabama Department of Archives and History.

There were eighty-one charter members. Quarterly meetings are held, with speakers on the history of the area and field trips to historic spots. A quarterly newsletter - sent to all members - is published.

As we end our tenth year, we have 115 families as members, covering ten states. We have instigated and followed through on reclaiming and listing historic cemeteries and continue to work on this. We were able to get Pintlala School on the Alabama Register of Historic Places and placed an historic marker (with help from alumnae). We are in the process of researching and planning a marker for Manac's Tavers on the Old Federal Road. Sam Manac married Elizabeth Weatherford. Their son David (Montiac), who grew up in Pintlala, was the first American Indian and the first Alabamian to graduate from West Point. We are researching and planning a marker with the Butler's Mill Rock.

We have an alcove at the Pintlala Branch Library, with books and files on the history of the area. We have shared genealogical information with people over the United States. We continue to grow.

HISTORICAL ALCOVE AT LIBRARY

Those of you who have visited the Pintlala Branch Library know that PHA now has its own nook. Thanks to Lurline Hall, our files are in good order. We welcome donations of books that tell of the history of Alabama and especially southwest Montgomery County (even elementary text books). We would like to get copies of old deeds,

INTERESTING BOOK DONATED TO PHA

Bill and Elizabeth (Tweet Garrett) Moore and Mary Dixie Dozier have donated an interesting book for our PHA Library. Those Gallant Georgians Who Served In The War Between The States was researched and written by Jimmy E. Arnsdorff and published in 1994. The author stayed at the Moore's home for fifteen years while he did research in the University of Georgia Libraries. The book contains maps, pictures, statistical information, and background studies of the south.

We appreciate this valuable addition to our archives.

NOTABLE MEN OF ALABAMA

PERSONAL AND GENEALOGICAL WITH PORTRAITS

HON. JOEL C. DUBOSE, Editor

VOLUME I

ATLANTA, GA.
SOUTHERN HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION
1904
DR. THOMAS DUNCAN, physician, Fleta, Ala., was born in Crenshaw county, Ala., Aug. 16, 1866. He is the son of John A. and Catherine (Norman) Duncan; father native of Tuscaloosa county, Ala.; and the mother, of Wilmington, N.C. The Duncan family were early settlers of Alabama. John A. Duncan died at the age of eighty-one years. He was a farmer. He was a private in the Confederate service during the entire Civil war. There were, of his family, ten children, seven of whom are living. Dr. Thomas Duncan is the second youngest of the family. He was reared on the farm, receiving his early education in the common schools, with two years at Ft. Deposit, Ala. He then engaged in teaching, possessing a first grade teacher's license, taking his first position as assistant in the schools of Ft. Deposit. He then went to Manningham, Ala., where he built an elegant school house, and was principal of the Manningham high school for two years. He entered the Medical college of Alabama at Mobile in 1889, and was graduated from it in March, 1892. He began the successful practice of his profession in the southern portion of Montgomery county. He was appointed by Gov. William D. Kelks, March, 1903, a member of the board of revenue of the county from the Fifth board of revenue district, in which body he is now serving. He is also in favor of all progress consistent with economical administration of county affairs. He is an earnest advocate of the improvement of public highways. Since his appointment he has not missed a meeting, and takes a deep interest in the affairs of the county. He was married, Sept. 7, 1892 to Zerorah (Zeverah) Sellers, a native of Montgomery county, Ala. Miss Sellers was a teacher in the public schools of the county. Three daughters are living: Alalul (Fleta), Lucile and Beuna Mae. Dr. Duncan is postmaster at Fleta, appointed under President Roosevelt's administration. He also owns a plantation at Fleta, on which he lives. He has it stocked with fine cattle and blooded horses, in which he takes a great interest. He has an elegant barn, and takes a general pride in the development of his farm. He has a natural love for farm and country life. He encourages the small farmers to owning and occupying their own farms and homes. In connection with his practice, he is the physician for Walter Brothers convict farm at Sprague Junction, near Fleta.

Dr. Thomas Duncan continued his medical practice at Fleta until his death on November 17, 1938. Zeverah Sellers Duncan died in 1943. Alalul Duncan married Briggs Dillard and they had three sons, Thomas, Briggs and William. Beuna Mae and Lucile Duncan were teachers in the Laurel, Mississippi, schools for many years. Beuna Mae Duncan, who left a substantial bequest to the Pintlala Library, married John Sellers. Dr. Duncan's medical office was donated to the Landmarks Foundation and is now located in the Old Alabama Town historic district. The Thomas Duncan home still stands near the intersection of the Pettus and Union Academy Roads. It has been partially restored by the present owners.
THE SNOWDOUN SHOOTING CLUB DINNER

From Montgomery Daily Advertiser, July 25, 1883.

It is refreshing to all who endure the heat of the city to breathe the pure, fresh air and enjoy the exhilarating effects of a visit to the county. In common with a special train load of ladies and gentlemen from the city we had the pleasure by the courtesy of the Snowdoun Shooting Club, of spending the day yesterday at Pleasant Grove, the picnic grounds, immediately on the Montgomery Southern Road.

The occasion was the annual dinner of this club, with the accompanying shooting match, which is always regarded as the event of the season.

At 8:30 a.m. the special train chartered by the club steamed from the depot, and was soon rapidly speeding away over the narrow gauge road, and in about an hour, allowing for stoppages to receive additions to our company along the route, reached Pleasant Grove. There had already arrived many young ladies and men from the vicinity, gathered in the merriest mood and anticipating the enjoyment to the utmost of the pleasures of the day. The guests received a cordial welcome from members of the club and were soon made to feel at home and accommodated themselves to the arrangements for their entertainment. The spacious platform was filled, a string band from the city supplied appropriate music, and the enjoyment of the devotees of the dance was complete.

With dancing and music, and social intercourse, and the trial of skill between the crack shots of the club, the time was pleasantly beguiled until the announcement of dinner--and such a dinner as only the Snowdoun Shooting Club can produce, and for which they are so justly and widely noted. The savory meats were barbecued to perfection, and could not have been surpassed by professional cooks whose genius and capabilities have been developed in the elite establishments of many of the cities. And the celebrated stew, the Snowdoun Club's appetizing specialty: it would tempt the anchorite to eat, and was the subject of universal praise. All this and more added to the elegant variety of cake and pastries, made up a bill of fare that was heartily enjoyed by the Club's appreciative guests.

Not less than five hundred people were present, of both sexes, including a considerable number of the best citizens and elegant ladies of Montgomery. The arrangements for the occasion were complete, and a delightful day was anticipated and fully realized. The hospitable members of the Club and people of the vicinity devoted themselves to the wants of their guests and none failed to be the object of their attentions--the ladies, of course, first on the list.
